Violin concert presented by, Ganeshji and Kumareshji

On 16th September 2010 A concert was conducted by the famous duo violin artists Sri Ganeshji and Kumareshji. They are a well known duo of violin players who are a part of the South India music fraternity (Karnatic music). They are best known as modern contemporary artists who have done lot of service to “Saatra Sangitam”. The Karnatic Music name limits its reach and appears to confine itself to a limited area whereas the name Saatra Sangitam gives it the legitimate dignity and honor, and enlarges its reach to the entire universe. They are a dynamic duo of violinists, who have carved a niche for themselves in this era of great violinists. The brothers have gone deeper into the realm of the music and brought out a refreshingly original content and style for the instrument he music and brought out a refreshingly original content and style for the instrument.

Student interaction was the part of Rahul Gandhi recent visit to Pune and region around. Mr. Gandhi interacted with students and youth in different age group with different backgrounds. ASM Group of Institutes 25 Management students had this rare opportunity to be invited to this event. Around 1200 students from 20 educational institutes were invited through special pass to this event called as “Talash-Shodh Naya Nirmalata” organized by NSUI, a stream of national congress working for youth development. Mr. Gandhi was also accompanied by Mrs. Minakshi Natarajan (MP Malayalam) and Mr. B.Edan [National President, NSUI]. Mr. Gandhi started his interaction admiration to youth with human resources and the necessity of channelizing the youth energy for bridging the gap between the underdeveloped India who still fall short of equal opportunities than developed India. To support his point he put some facts and his experience of visit to Japan. In his conversation he was encouraging students to put their view and what they think to bridge the gap.

In continuation to his talk, he said there are ways three to enter into politics but most of common people can only enter and that too with much more formal education. Because of this problem he has started democratic system of NSUI. This is not only easier way to enter into politics but also NSUI is the only student organization which implemented so, he said. Student asked him multiple discipline questions. Mr. Gandhi answered them smartly, J&K problem. Age limit for politicians. Internal security matters and response system for 26/11, Police training need and its modernisation, Reservation and increment in intake capacity of renowned institutes, corruption, police functioning, demand for reservation and other political aspects

Mr. Gandhi was eager to find new ideas from students and emphasising need for participation of youth in politics. The overall event was greatly co-ordinated by local NSUI members including security arrangements and media coverage. It’s been a knowledgeable experience to one and all present for the event.
